Catholics in Lae gather to mourn death of Pope

AT THE same time the Catholic Church was burying Pope John Paul II in Rome, Catholics in Lae were gathering along with other Christians and Civic authorities at St Mary's Cathedral to remember him in a memorial service. The Cathedral was overflowing for the occasion.

During his homily, the Bishop of Lae, Bishop Henry van Lieshout, spoke about the Popes visit to P.N.G. where he had met so many people who remembered him with affection. On hearing of his death, although we had been prepared for it, he said, we nevertheless were saddened and felt that we had lost a good friend.

The Bishop went on to talk about the Pope as a great traveler who wanted to meet as many people as he could. He wanted to be a friend to all, the bishop said, and he had respect and love for all, especially the poor, the handicapped, the down trodden and the unborn.

The Bishop went on to say that the Pope was a great Christian leader who was never afraid to speak up for the Gospel values. He as a man who worked tirelessly to build bridges between people, communities and nations. He stood strongly on the side of justice, peace and solidarity.

He showed his greatness as a Christian, said the bishop, when he forgave his assassin and his willingness, to say sorry for the sins of the Church. In this, the bishop said, he taught us all how to forgive.

The bishop went on to say in his homily that for twenty six years the Pope has showed Christian leadership and had let his life be guided by faithfulness to the Gospel, to the Truth and to the Tradition of the Church. He saw himself, the bishop said, as a disciple of Christ who sought obedience to the will of the Father.

The Bishop went on to say that the Pope, was never afraid to challenge us to live the Gospel values. He wanted the Church, said the Bishop, to reach out into the world with love and compassion to all.

He was a great man, said the bishop, a fearless leader respected by Catholics and non-Catholics alike and in doing so he taught us not to be afraid but to be an Easter People full of hope.

We give thanks to God, said the Bishop, for the life of John Paul II and we pray that God will give him eternal rest.

Conclave to elect new Pope begins April 18

...Journalists to view video of Cardinals' residence

THE conclave of cardinals to elect a new pope will begin Monday, April 18, says Vatican spokesman Joaquin Navarro Valls.

The director of the Vatican press office explained today that a Votive Mass will be celebrated that morning for the election of the pope, in St. Peter's Basilica, and "the cardinals will enter the conclave in the early afternoon" and remain there until the election of the new pontiff.

According to the normative, the conclave must take place 15 to 20 days after the Pope's death. John Paul II died April 2.

During the conclave, cardinals younger than 80 before John Paul II's death (those who are older cannot participate) will reside in Domus Sanctae Marthae, a resident building inside the Vatican. They will vote in the Sistine Chapel.

The cardinals will live in isolation, that is, they will not be able to speak with anyone outside the conclave, nor communicate by phone or Internet, or listen to the radio or watch television.

There were 122 cardinals present in the general congregation of cardinals held today in Rome, although among them were some older than 80. In total, there are 117 cardinal electors and 66 non-electors.

Vatican spokesman Navarro Valls said that some cardinal electors will not be able to participate in the conclave due to illness.

He announced that the press will be allowed to visit the Sistine Chapel, but will not be able to see the interior of Domus Sanctae Marthae, as cardinals who have arrived in Rome are already living there.

Some 3,500 journalists have been accredited by the Holy See, so a visit to the residence would cause numerous logistical problems.

In lieu of the visit, a film will be shown which offers ample details of the interior of the residence.

Bishops begin arriving in POM for annual meeting

EACH year the Catholic Bishops Conference of Papua New Guinea and Solomon Islands gathers for its annual general meeting.

Present at the meeting are all the bishops of the two countries who will discuss matters affecting the life, the witness and the administration of the Church.

Preliminary meetings are held before the conference properly begins with the heads of the various commissions and offices of the Church.

At these meetings resolutions and motions are discussed so that they can be introduced into the plenary session.

The conference will also discuss and release statements on matters affecting the life of the Church or society that it feels it ought to speak out on.

Matters likely to come up will be the General Assembly, the Ad Limina visit of the Bishops to Rome in June this year and Ausaid assistance of the Church's HIV/AIDS programme, the Integral Human Development programme and the improvement in the management of, such as, health and educational facilities that the Church operates.

This year the conference will be held in Port Moresby at the Don Bosco Technological Institute from the 16th to the 23rd of this month.

Catholics are urged to remember the conference and the bishops in their prayers during this coming week.

National Director Caritas PNG

The Catholic Bishops Conference (CBC) is inviting applications for the position of National Director of Caritas PNG.

Caritas PNG is the Catholic Commission for Justice, Peace, Development and Relief of the Catholic Bishops of Papua New Guinea. It is part of the regional network of Caritas organizations known as Caritas Oceania and the worldwide network Caritas International.

Caritas PNG seeks to bring about a better society based on justice, peace and integral human development. It exists to promote the principles expressed in Catholic social teaching. Caritas PNG tries to address injustices which prevent people from living with dignity. It speaks out as a voice of ordinary people.

Applicants for the National Director position must be active members of the Catholic Church with a clear interest in the social justice ministry of the Church. They should also be skilled in working cooperatively with others. Caritas PNG has a network of Caritas coordinators located in each of the 19 dioceses in the country.

Applicants should have strong qualifications and experience in the field of administration since Caritas PNG is a large organization with a national staff of 6 to 10 people.

The National Director of Caritas represents the Catholic Bishops Conference in the area of justice, peace, development and relief services here in Papua New Guinea and overseas. Applicants must be qualified to fulfill this obligation.

The apply or to seek further information contact the Bishop-Deputy for Caritas PNG, PO Box 6576, Boroko, NCD 111 tel: 549 1002, email sjmendi@dg.com.pg

Marist Brothers Join Franciscans International in NGO Partnership

FRANCISCANS International and the Marist Brothers announce the formation of a major new Non-Governmental Organisation (NGO) partnership.

Franciscans International is the Franciscan voice at the United Nations (UN) - working to influence decisions that are made by the international community, particularly policies concerning the poor, the promotion and protection of human rights, the environment and peace.

In their new joint venture with Franciscans International, the Marist Brothers will specifically focus on advocacy efforts related to children's rights and their right to education.

As part of the partnership, the Marist Brothers will present co-sponsored interventions; obtain assistance and facilitation on advocacy initiatives with governments, NGOs and UN agencies; receive reports of UN meetings that are of importance to the delegation; and have access to administrative services in the Geneva, Switzerland-based office.

"I am very pleased with this partnership, as it is a sure sign of collaboration in the areas of children's issues and human rights," remarked Br. Seán Sammon, FMS, the Superior General of the Marist Brothers of the Schools.

The partnership between Franciscans International and the Marist Brothers is part of a long-term strategic plan to develop a network of faith-based organisations at the UN.

Presently, the Dominicans for Justice and Peace and the International Catholic Migration Commission collaborate as organisations within this network.

Franciscans International will also aid the Marist Brothers in obtaining Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) status at the UN.

The Marist Brothers are a religious teaching congregation of the Catholic Church founded by St. Marcellin Champagnat in the first half of the 19th century.

Today, there are approximately 4,300 brothers and tens of thousands of laypeople who undertake the work of Marist education, forming children and young people to be "good citizens and good Christians" in 77 countries around the world.

"JISAS KRAIS EM I POS TRU BILONG SIOS NA I NO GAT NARAPELA"

Film shows how Karol Wojtyla was prepared for Papacy

A TV miniseries to be shown April 14 in Paul VI Hall explains how Karol Wojtyla's Polish past prepared him to become John Paul II.

The miniseries, scheduled to be broadcast April 18-19 in Italy, is based on a work by journalist Gianfranco Svidercoschi, a friend of John Paul II's, and is entitled "Karol, A Man Who Became Pope."

Svidercoschi, a former assistant editor of L'Osservatore Romano who now works for the Roman newspaper Il Tempo, told ZENIT: "From the beginning I understood that the secret of this pontificate was in Karol Wojtyla's Polish years. I understood it even better in 1996, when I worked with the Pope on the book 'Gift and Mystery,' on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of his priesthood.

"Then I also understood this Pope better. There is a phrase in that book that says something like this: 'I have known Nazism and later Communism from within, that is, the extermination and concentration camps and the gulags. ... In this way, my sensibility can be understood for the cause of the human person and his rights.'"

"All the 20th-century Popes spoke against war and in favor of the rights of man, but perhaps none did so with the knowledge of cause of John Paul II. He lived in the 'first person' the totalitarianisms of the past century," explained Svidercoschi.

"In fact, the film begins with the outbreak of the Second World War, on September 1, 1939 - the invasion of Poland," he said. "Then Karol Wojtyla escaped with his father on foot to the East, fleeing from the Nazis. When they reached the San river, they saw Polish soldiers who cried out to them: 'Go back, go back, the Soviets are arriving!'"

"This is why he was such a credible witness when he spoke of peace, and for this reason his pontificate was characterized by the defense of the dignity of the human person, of the rights of man. To understand his pontificate one must understand what he lived through in Poland."

The film's script is based essentially on the work Svidercoschi had done to suggest to John Paul II the chapters of the book "Gift and Mystery."

"I did not do as Vittorio Messori, who wrote the questions for the book 'Crossing the Threshold of Hope,'" the journalist explained, referring to the Pope's 1994 best seller. "In fact, I wrote a sort of script so that the Pope could recall those years.

"For example, I recounted how one morning in the autumn of 1943, Karol Wojtyla, wearing clogs, went across Krakow to see the rector of the seminary and tell him: 'I want to be a priest.' Then I asked him: 'Holiness, why did you decide to be a priest?'" The Pope responds in the book."

In the end, it was decided to publish only what the Pope had written, putting aside the introductions of context. This is why John Paul II thanked Svidercoschi for his help in the Introduction.

The Vatican Secretariat of State asked the journalist to present it to the press.

The film was made by producer Pietro Valsecchi's Tau 2 Film company.

Archbishop Stanislaw Dziwisz, the Pope's secretary, asked Father Pawel Ptasznik, of the Polish section of the Vatican Secretariat of State, to see the film and suggest modifications if necessary.

However, the revision does not imply the Vatican's official approval.

The actors are in the main Poles and Italians. Polish actor Piotr Adamczyk plays Karol Wojtyla.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church

Bishop Francesco of Goroka writes:

(Jn 3:5) in order to enter the Kingdom of God, ...

Let's continue the exploration of our faith taken from the Catechism of the Catholic Church.

THE SEVEN SACRAMENTS OF THE CHURCH

Christ instituted the sacraments of the Church. There are seven: Baptism, Confirmation, the Eucharist, Penance, the Anointing of the sick, Holy Orders and Matrimony. They accompany the life of the Christian. They have a specific function and they are grouped together as follows: Sacraments of Christian Initiation (Baptism, Confirmation and the Eucharist); Sacraments of healing (Penance and Anointing of the sick); Sacraments at the service of communion and the mission of the Church (Holy Order and Matrimony).

THE SACRAMENTS OF CHRISTIAN INITIATION

The Sacraments of Christian initiation, Baptism, Confirmation and Eucharist, are the foundation of every Christian life. By Baptism the faithful are born anew and share in the life of God. By Confirmation they are strengthened in their struggle against evil and in the Eucharist they receive the food of eternal life.

THE SACRAMENT OF BAPTISM

To baptize means to immerse. The sacrament of Baptism immerses the believer into Christ's death from which he rises up with him as a 'new creature'. The water of baptism symbolizes purification from sins and the newly baptized receive the gift of the Spirit leading him into eternal life.

Baptism is a gift to the baptized because is given without any merit of their own; it is grace because it takes away sins and offers the life of God; it anoints people marking them the chosen and royal people under the leadership of God.

PREFIGURATION OF BAPTISM IN THE OLD COVENANT

In reflecting on the many signs present in the events of the Old Testament, the Church discovers in them a new significance for her baptismal liturgical celebration. The waters of creation, by the power of the Spirit, are understood as a sign of holiness.

In the the story of Noah's ark, saved from the water of destruction, there is the sign of the future salvation in baptism. The crossing of the Red Sea, liberating Israel from the slavery of Egypt, symbolizes the liberation brought about by Baptism. Crossing the river Jordan and entering the Promised Land is a figure of Baptism promising eternal life.

BAPTISM OF CHRIST

All those signs of the past find their full explanation in Jesus Christ. He accepts to be baptized at the river Jordan. He, the sinless, follows the path of purification so to give an example to us sinners to purify ourselves. The Spirit present at the beginning of creation is now also present at his baptism as a sign of a new creation.

In death, from his wounded side, water and blood flows signifying Baptism and Eucharist, the sacraments of new life. Now with Christ we may be "born of water and the Spirit"

BAPTISM IN THE CHURCH

Christ gave the mandate to disciples to go and "baptize in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit" (Mt 28:19). It has been the practice of the Church from the beginning to call people to repentance and to administer baptism to those who believe in Jesus Christ (Acts 2:38 / 16:31-33).

The baptized is buried with Christ into death, so that he might walk in newness of life. He is now purified and his new life is a life guided by the Spirit of Jesus.

CELEBRATION OF THE SACRAMENT OF BAPTISM

Before receiving the sacrament of Baptism a time of preparation is needed by listening to the proclamation of the Word of God, acceptance of his Word and conversion, by a profession of faith and openness to receive the grace of the Holy Spirit.

The rite of baptism starts with the sign of the Cross, signifying the redemption won for us by Christ. It follows with the proclamation of the Word of God demanding a response in faith by the candidates. The pouring of the water three times over the head of the candidates is a sign of the Trinity taking possession of their soul and of purification from sin. The candidates are also anointed with chrism as a sign of receiving the gift of the Holy Spirit and of total belonging to Christ. The white cloth and the candle given to the newly baptized symbolize the light of Christ who should now be the light of their life. The solemn blessing is the final act of the celebration.

Those who have attained the age of reason may receive Holy Communion, after the administration of Baptism.

WHO CAN RECEIVE BAPTISM?

All those persons, whether adults, young or infants, who have not yet receive the sacrament of Baptism may be baptized.

For the adult and young a time of initiation and preparation is required. It is a time to be informed and educated to understand the mystery of salvation, to grow in the evangelical virtues and be introduced into the life of faith, liturgy, and charity of the Church.

For the infants it is important that their parents recognize the great responsibility they assume when asking for baptism for their children. Baptism is a gift for their children, making them children of God. The parents have to educate and help them grow in the Christian faith and practice especially by the example of their own Christian living

WHO CAN BAPTIZE?

The ordinary minister of baptism are the Bishops, priests and deacons.

In case of necessity any person, even a non-baptized, can baptize as long as he performs the rite using the Trinitarian formula and according to the intention of the Church.

THE NECESSITY OF BAPTISM

For those who have heard the proclamation of the Gospel, and have understood what it means to believe is necessary to receive the sacrament of Baptism in order to receive divine life and be saved. To refuse to do so in full conscience and willfully may endanger their eternal salvation.
